Real World Problem Scenario Training in SFT BOCES was a Success

More than 50 Santa Fe Trail BOCES teachers participated in a professional development training on Real-World Problem Scenarios (RWPS), project-based learning activities developed in partnership with educators and local business members, earlier this month. At the training teachers learned first-hand about the importance of RWPS and were provided a model for executing RWPS in their classrooms.

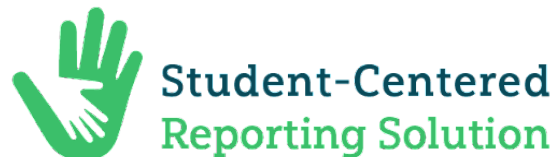

“[My biggest takeaway is] it doesn't have to be hard...they gave us some websites and steps to make it easy. I am very excited about implementing the program with our art teacher about poetry and social justice.”

Student-Centered Accountability and Reporting

Student-Centered Reporting Solution Website Launched - New Districts Needed!

The Student-Centered Reporting Solution is a homegrown technology solution that currently serves districts across Colorado and beyond, bringing together education leaders, researchers, policymakers, technology funders, and programmers to remove persistent barriers to addressing equity in education. This grassroots effort leverages the national community of over 11,900 districts in 32 states using the Ed-Fi data standard, creating insightful and timely reports that can be used to engage the local community and achieve equitable, student-centered teaching and learning. Learn more at studentcenteredreporting.org

The CREC is seeking additional districts to pilot new reporting functionalities, contact Kirk Banghart to learn more.
